DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 12-20 been renumbered 11-19 respectively.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hendricks et al (5,600,573) in view of Clanton, III et al (5,524,195).

As to claim 1, note Hendricks reference figures 1-3, discloses operations center with video storage for TV program packaging and delivery system and further discloses an interactive information distribution system containing service provider equipment and subscriber equipment (set-top terminal) that is interconnected by a communications network, the method of providing a subscription-on-demand service, comprising:

(Computer Assisted Packaging system 'CAP' of Operations Center 'OC' 202) providing a set of more than two on-demand programs; packaging the set into a subset having at least two on-demand programs..." and "providing a user interface having the subset as a selectable object..." (col.6, lines 15-43, col.7, line7-col.8, line 39).

Hendricks discloses a VOD and other program packaging process, but fails to explicitly teach where the VOD programs are package into programming package or into a subset.

However, note the Clanton III, reference figure 5, discloses a number of VOD programs are packaged into programming packages based on specific categories (col.8, lines 47-67).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teaching of Clanton III into the system of Hendricks in order to enable a user to select from a desired VOD or programs presented in packages based on specific categories.

4. Claims 2-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hendricks et al (5,600,573) in view of Clanton, III et al (5,524,195) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of DirecTV Offers MSNBC in Programming Lineup (Los Angeles, July 15, 1996).

Hendricks further discloses where in response to selection of the selectable objects representing the subset of at least two on-demand programs, causing subscription to the programming package (col.19, 46-54), note that VOD request at the OC 202 or HE-208 determines whether the subscriber is entitled to receive the program and whether there is sufficient funds or credit for the subscriber.

Hendricks as modified by Clanton III, fail to explicitly teach, providing a time limited access period to the subset of the at least two on-demand programs without incurring an additional fee, a time limited access period, providing subscription to the package at a predefined price

However, Directv teaches providing various programming packages by the month or predefined time (see page 2 of Directv document).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teaching of Directv into the system of Hendricks as modified by Clanton III to enable the cable operator the flexibility of packing programming as desired with predetermined the prices for predetermined time period(s) to increase revenue and furthermore to enable users to purchase or subscribe to various programming packages as desired.

As to claims 8-19, Hendricks does not explicitly teach a programming package where the programming packages are arrange in a hierarchical package of programming, comprising multiple program packages including a top level package including all of the at least two on-demand programs and at least one particular package including only a portion of the at least on-demand programs, one particular package with respective portion of at least two on-demand programs, defined according to content categories comprises one or more sports, particular teams, etc., to enable a user to select from an object representing a top level of hierarchical package programming, user defined program package to enable personal subscription service, causing subscription of the programming packages upon selections of the objects for predefined price for predefined time period and where the SOD service provides the content subsets at a predefined price for a predefined time period.

However, Drectv further provides programming packages: plus directv, select choice, total choice silver, etc., which are arranged in hierarchical format having subsets of programming packages within a programming package (STAR!, SHOWTIME, HBO, HBO/STAR!, HBO/STAR! II, HBO/STAR!/SHOWTIME, etc.) to enable a viewer to subscribe to a programming package subset without subscribing to an entire programming package.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teaching of Directv into the system of Hendricks as modified by Clanton III in order to continuously package a diverse lineup of quality programming to subscribers at a great value to generate income.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection discussed above. This office action is non-final.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Easy et al (6,448,987) disclose GUI for digital content delivery system using circular menus.

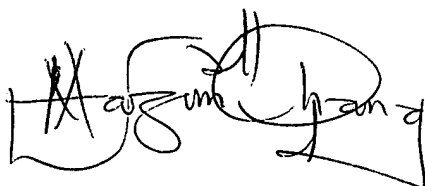

Strubbe et al (5,483,278) disclose system and method for finding a movie of interest in a large movie database.
